Become a member of IACCCA

The International Association of Corporate Collections of Contemporary Art (IACCCA) is a non-profit organisation created in 2007 by and for professional corporate curators.

WHO IS ELIGIBLE FOR MEMBERSHIP?

- Corporate art collections and other large collections with close links to companies
- Collections professionally managed by curators and provided with accurate catalogues
- Active collectors of contemporary art
- Preferably collections that provide activities/art programmes open to employees, clients and/or the general public (visits, courses, exhibitions and loans)

ADVANTAGES FOR IACCCA MEMBERS

- An exclusive international network of curators of corporate art collections, and direct access to their shared experiences
- Invitations to IACCCA high-level symposiums, workshops and meetings with professionals from worldwide institutions and museums
- Inspiration to visit other corporate art collections
- Visibility in publications on corporate art collections such as Global Corporate Collections
- Information on who's who, which may help your board decide on its communication strategy, mediation and educational programmes, management of copyright issues, practical examples of how to commission art and have it produced, how to draft acquisition contracts, and advice on conservation matters
- Assistance from the IACCCA members' network on locations where you or your company may wish to organise an event (qualified mailing lists, recommendations regarding on-site technical and logistical matters)
- A platform for professional exchange and artistic recommendations and references
- Access to surveys and statistics such as which database systems are used by which collection and how they are recommended, comparative collection studies
